The Feast of St. Martin de Porres— St. Martin de Porres was born in Lima, Peru in 1579. He was the product of a Spanish father and free black woman mother. St. Martin de Porres began to volunteer with the Dominicans at the age of 15 helping to care for the sick in the monastery infirmary. He also worked in the kitchen and was considered to be very compassionate and kind. Though it was not customary for a mixed-race person to be accepted into a religious order then, de Porres became a Dominican oblate in 1601. In art de Porres is often depicted with a broom and usually with a dog or mouse to symbolize his willingness to serve others. St. Martin de Porres is the patron saint of social justice, racial harmony, and mixed race people. His feast day is November 3rd.
